Insights & Analysis

- On the Generic Congressional Ballot, Republicans lead by +4; the net 2-point increase since January is driven by black voters and college-educated women, two traditionally reliable Democrat voting blocks.
 - Republicans lead in Republican held districts (47% / 43%), Democrat held districts (47% / 43%), and in open seats (43% / 42%).
 - After a 7-point net shift since March, most married women now prefer the Republican candidate.
- Over time, voters are less likely to associate with the Democratic Party.
 - A plurality of voters considered themselves Democrats when they started voting, compared to now when a plurality identify as Republicans.
- Biden's image is still underwater with a net-unfavorable image of 17% but has improved from his net-unfavorable image of 21% in March. Trump's image has shifted negatively by 2%.
- On the Head-to-Head Presidential Ballot, Trump leads 47% to Biden's 45% with the ballot narrowing since March. Trump needs to stall the hemorrhaging among Hispanic voters and single women.
- Kennedy, Jr. is trending downward on the Full Presidential Ballot as Biden's allies work to bring base Democrats home. We see 3% of voters shift away from RFK and an equal increase in those definitely supporting Biden.
- After inflation being at a high in January, the top priority switched to border issues in the early spring, but inflation and cost of living are coming back to the forefront as the top issue.
 - Abortion has seen a 3% bump since March, with single women and Democrats as the cause of the increased salience.

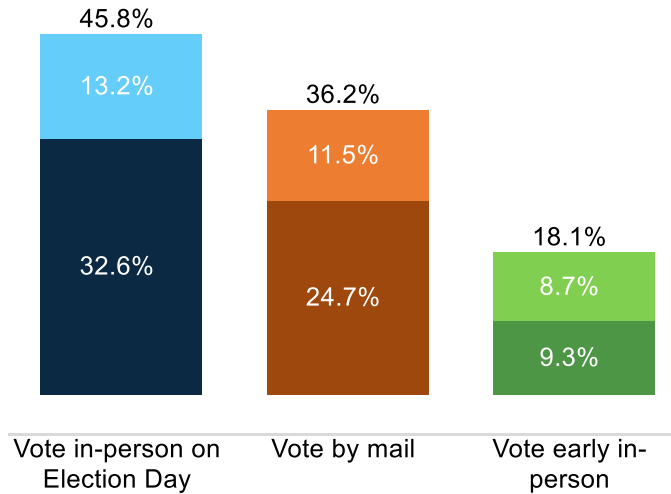

Insights & Analysis

- Trump's job approval overshadows Biden's job approval by 10 points (48% Trump approve vs. 37% Biden approve)
 - Biden's job approval is underwater by 19% while Trump's is +1 net-approval.
 - Trump's job approval among key voting groups increased by 5% or more: college-educated women, married women, and black voters.
- The number of voters who view Democrats as the more extreme party has increased by 5% since January.
 - A majority of black voters (55%) now view the Democrat party as more extreme.
- A strong plurality of voters (48%) believes existing immigration laws need to be enforced, including deportation of those entering the country illegally.
 - Most college-educated voters, women, and black voters prefer enforcement of existing laws, while Hispanic voters are split between enforcement and new citizenship pathways.
- When asking voters about their opinion of the pro-Palestine protests occurring across the nation, the top four responses from were negative (Sad, Antisemitic, Offensive, and Violent).
 - Moderates and centrist-Democrats are driving most of the sad responses.
- Over 80% of voters oppose the pro-Palestine protests that call for the death of Jews occurring on college campuses, more than 70% are strongly opposed.
 - A mere 3% of voters fully support pro-Palestinian protestors including calling for the death of Jews. This sentiment is driven by young liberal Democrats.

Insights & Analysis

- Over 60% of voters disagree with Biden's Title IX rule change, nearly half strongly disagree.
 - Even Biden's most ardent supporters disagree. Two-thirds of black voters, Independents, and voters in open seats plus a majority of women, urban voters, and voters with a Democrat incumbent disagree. Even a third of Democrats and 2020 Biden voters oppose the rules change.
- A majority of voters strongly agree that states should be able to pass laws that maintain protections solely for biological women.
 - Liberals are the only group to disagree overall, but only by 1-point.
- Segmentation analysis identified five groups via machine learning: Young Dems (17%), Old GOP (29%), Old Dems (24%), Young GOP (16%), and Independents (14%).
 - Independents skew female (57%) and tend to be younger with a majority under 55. In terms of ideology, they are more moderate and have an unfavorable opinion of both Biden and Trump. Inflation and cost of living are the top priority for these voters and more than a third would support RFK if he were on the ballot, in a H2H they prefer Biden by a 10-point margin.

Title IX New Rules

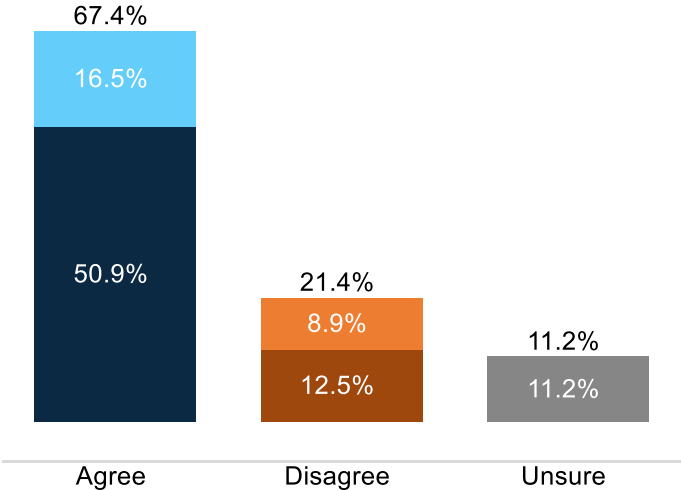

As you may know, Title IX is a landmark federal civil rights law enacted in the 1970s that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex and covers a wide range of areas including academic admissions, athletics, sexual harassment and employment. For decades, Title IX has been vital in opening doors for generations of women and girls.

Some states are passing laws that prohibit biological men from participating in female sports or using women’s bathrooms. Some critics say that biological men who identify as women should have the same non-discrimination protections from Title IX that biological women receive. Knowing this, do you agree or disagree that states should be able to pass laws that maintain protections for solely for biological women?
